Re: MBT Automotive, 1155 St. Louis
Complaint - Oil dumping to sanitary sewer.

On August 15, 1988 Karen Chandler and I went to MBT Automotive to investigate a complaint that Randy Lyman received on August 12, 1988 from a former employee who stated that MBT was dumping all of their waste oil down the sanitary sewer. We talked to the shop manager, Mr. Daryl King. Mr. King explained that they have a waste oil tank in the basement and that the oil is dumped into a pipe on the first floor which is tributary to the waste oil tank. Karen and I inspected the tank in the basement. We then went to the office and talked to the owner, Mr. Larry Cameron, and he stated that Southwest Petroleum picks up their waste oil. Their Missouri Department of Natural Resources Hazardous Waste Generators Number is A8462. While we were there we asked Mr. King what they used to clean their garage floor with. Mr. King said that they had a big container of Tide that they used with water to scrub the floor with.

Karen and I checked the sanitary sewer which serves MBT and found no presence of oil of any kind. We also checked with personnel in Sewer Maintenance and found no record of oil found in that section of sewer line.
